

HEALTHY EATING & EXERCISE POLICY

1. Rationale & HM Government Guidance

1.1. HM Government states that:

- All children should engage in moderate to vigorous intensity physical activity for at least 60-minutes up to several hours per day. 30-minutes of this time should be available at school
- Vigorous intensity activities, including those that strengthen muscle and bone, should be incorporated at least three-days-a-week
- All children and young people should minimise the amount of time spent being sedentary (sitting) for extended periods

1.1.1. Individual physical and mental capabilities should be considered when interpreting the guidelines.

1.2. HM Government is strongly promoting healthy eating and exercise among children and young people. Hartmore School Policy has been developed utilising the following Government dietary recommendations:

1.3. Hartmore School's focus is to increase the amount of fresh fruit and vegetables that children are eating, as well as reducing the amount of sugar consumption. The Government recommended 'Eatwell Guide' can be seen below:

1.4. In August 2016 the Government released a 'Plan for Action' regarding childhood obesity. This plan can be seen in full using this link:
